

Game-2 Seawater for Flushing in Hong Kong

Objective:

Since 1957, the Hong Kong Government has been retrieving seawater to replace the precious fresh water supply for flushing. The network for seawater flushing currently covers about 85% of the population in Hong Kong. This game aims at deepening students' knowledge on the distribution of seawater flushing supply zones in Hong Kong in an interactive manner, thus increasing their motivation to learn.

* Reference materials *

Teacher may make use of the following material:

P4: Topic 12 Characteristics of Fresh Water and Seawater - Lesson plan and worksheets

How to play:

The teacher may first introduce the background of seawater flushing to students, then students can discuss on the distribution of supply zones, followed by matching the correct Image Cards to the correct supply zone. Answers will be explained by the teacher at the end.

Items:

Background Poster

Image Card

Answer Sheet

